

Welcome

History of the house

Sæberg , “the old school” was built in 1922 – 1923 . A primary school in the settlement just outside Seyðisfjörður called “á Eyrinum” In the school was also a library that belonged to Seyðisfjörður town . In the year 1960 the small settlement was abandoned and gradually the community of houses disappeared leaving only two houses; the school and Hermes. In the following years significant damage was done on the houses.

A man Brynjar Júlíusson who was born and raised in Hermes began to do renovations on that house and Sigurdur Jonsson, who purchased “the old school” in 1985, sealed it, getting it ready for future restoration. In 2013 when the old neighborhood got electricity, the renovation work began. The old school now hosts travelers in search for tranquility in the beautiful fjord. We wish you a pleasant stay.

Free wifi

Name of the internet is: “default” you dont need a password.

Bluetooth “Punk Player”

Switch it on by pressing the “ ON ” button . To pair the devices. Keep “ Bluetooth ”button for two seconds and then go into the device and connect the player.

The wood stove

Put 1-2 ignition blocks that are in the chamber under the oven and set them on fire inside the oven. Then put 1-3 wood chips in the oven on top of them . It is not advised to reduce the air flow (handle should be all the way to the left for full airflow) . The house is well heated and therefore it is not advised to keep the fire going during night. This is more for the ambiance while relaxing in the house.
